For sixty years I have derived the greatest comfort—may even say inspiration—from the hymn, “Resting in God.” I have thought, however, that its message might perhaps be more emphatic if each line were illustrated by a verse of scripture.

It is my earnest hope that in times of sorrow and sickness and during wearisome nights this beautiful hymn may bring to others a message as helpful as it has brought to me.

M. E. B.

Resting in God.

Since thy Father's arm sustains thee,
Peaceful be;
When a chastening hand restrains thee,
It is He.
Know His love in full completeness
Fills the measure of thy weakness;
If He wound thy spirit sore,
Trust Him more.

Without murmur, uncomplaining,
In his hand
Lay whatever things thou canst not Understand.
Though the world thy folly spurneth,
From thy faith in pity turneth,
Peace thy inmost soul shall fill,
Lying still.

Like an infant, if thou thinkest
Thou canst stand;
Childlike, proudly pushing back
The offered hand,
Courage soon is changed to fear,
Strength doth feebleness appear,
In his love if thou abide,
He will guide.

Fearest sometimes that thy Father
Hath forgot ?
When the clouds around thee gather,
Doubt Him not.
Always hath the daylight broken,—
Always hath He comfort spoken,—
Better hath He been for years,
Than thy fears.

Therefore, whatsoe'er betideth,
Night or day,—
Know His love for thee provideth
Good alway.
Crown of sorrow gladly take,
Grateful wear it for His sake,
Sweetly bending to His will,
Lying still.

To his own thy Saviour giveth
Daily strength ;
To each troubled soul that liveth,
Peace at length.
Weakest lambs have largest share
Of this tender Shepherd's care ;
Ask him not, then, "When?" or "How?"
Only bow
